"HE DID CHEAT."

So Says the Jury in the "Nawaby" Baccarat Case Just Ended in London.

LONDON, June 9.—For the first time since the baccarat trial began, there was a cheer for Gordon Cumming as he passed into the court room. The throng outside was greater than ever, and the police found it difficult to make way for those entitled to entrance. The popular excitement over the case is very great, and many have come in from other towns to London to see the spectacle of a prince, the accused, and the galaxy of wealth, beauty and nobility on exhibition. Sir William Gordon Cumming was evidently in better spirits than a week ago, and he took his seat with an air of confidence, and a smile to his beautiful sister, Lady Middleton, who, with her husband, Lord Middleton, has stood by him from the first. Sir Charles Russell was there, and seemed to have got over the yawning habit which afflicted him when Sir Edward Clarke was addressing the jury. This is a favorite trick with Sir Charles and is played by him to break the force of an opponent's questions or arguments. Just as Sir Edward would be reaching some strong point, Sir Charles Russell would stretch himself and would yawn loud enough to attract attention from what the other side was saying.

The lord chief justice began his summing up of the evidence. It was noticed throughout that his charge was favorable to the defendants. The audience listened with breathless attention to the words of his address, upon the tenor of which so much depended. The court explained at length the difference between an action for slander, such as this one, and an action for libel. If the jury found that the defendants, in what they said about Sir William Gordon-Cumming, had spoken the truth, they should render a verdict in the defendant's favor. If, however, the jury believed the statements of the defendants to have been broadly untrue, and that the plaintiff did not commit the acts ascribed to him, the verdict must be for Sir William. His lordship entreated the jury to keep their minds steadily upon the evidence. The extraneous matter which had been brought into the arguments of the counsel must be eliminated from the minds of the jury in their consideration of the facts. At this apparent allusion to the remarks of Sir Edward Clarke concerning the Prince of Wales there were many significant exchanges of glances in the court room. The lord chief justice proceeded to analyze the evidence which, he said, was well worthy of careful consideration. He emphatically protested against the observation which had been made by the counsel, that there was more of a case than was allowed to appear upon the surface. The jury must not allow themselves to be influenced by such remarks made in the heat of argument by the counsel, whose zeal led them to hint at more than could be made evident. As a matter of fact, there was never any more in a case than appeared in evidence. That was the province of the courts of laws, to bring out the facts, and only the facts, and to procure a verdict thereon. The jury were debarred by their solemn oaths from dealing with the beneath surface, if such things existed. They must confine themselves to examination. This evidence was in the case very full, and furnished ample light whereby the jury could be guided to a correct conclusion, regardless of other considerations. They must confine themselves to the single question at issue, and base their verdict upon what they had heard proved by evidence. At the conclusion of the lord chief justice's address the jury retired and the court room busied themselves in commenting upon what they had heard and conjectures as to the probably effect of the charge upon the jury. Only fifteen minutes had elapsed when the jury sent word to the court that they had agreed upon a verdict. The suspense was great as the jurors returned to their seats and replied to the usual questions. When the verdict of not guilty was announced, there was a tremendous stir, the court rapping vainly for order. Both applause and hisses were heard, but the former predominated. In a few moments the room was vacated by the gaily dressed throng and the sensational trial was over. The defendants present were warmly congratulated by numerous friends, and seemed supremely happy. The verdict was in accordance with the general expectation. Betting during the morning was strongly in favor of such a result.

When this number has been killed seal killing is to be stopped and further orders awaited.

ALMOST A FIGHT.

Sensational Story With Which the Captain of the Esmeralda Regales His Friends.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—The Examiner publishes a sensational letter from its correspondent at Acapulco, in which he says that in an interview with Capt. Silva Palma, the captain of the Esmeralda, the latter told him that the Esmeralda met the Ilala at a point 100 miles south of Manzanilla, Mexico. They were about to put coal on board the Esmeralda when the steam launch, which had been sent north as a look out, signalled that a pursuer was in sight. Instantly the Ilala was ordered to fly, and she sailed away at the top of her speed. The pursuer was the Charleston, and the Esmeralda prepared to meet her. The meeting occurred off the harbor of Acapulco at about 3 o'clock in the morning. The Esmeralda had her search light playing over the sea and shed it full upon the United States cruiser as she steamed down upon her. The result was that the Charleston beat quarters and put every man at the guns. The Esmeralda was equally prepared and her decks were cleared for action. Captain Palma says that if a pistol shot had been fired on either side it would have been the signal for instant engagement. Capt. Palma says he tried to buy coal and provisions from the Mexicans, but they refused to sell him anything. He at length told the authorities that if he did not get coal to get outside he would fight in the harbor. It is small and land-locked and the fight would have destroyed the town. After this he was allowed the needed coal.

DON'T WANT IT.

That Is How the Cubans Feel About Annexation.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Charles J. Crawford, of New York, who has extensive interests in Cuba, has just returned from a visit to his southern property. Talking of annexation, he said: "The Cubans do not wish annexation. They are disposed to antagonize Mr. Blaine's plan. While they admire the secretary of state, they believe that he has missed opportunities to assist the Cubans. But in accepting those chances he would have been obliged to injure Spain as much as he would have helped Cuba. The Cubans want Mr. Blaine to assist in securing the independence of their country. Personally the natives are very fond of the people of the United States and they prefer the American market for the equal advantages, which both countries would reap through a reciprocity treaty. If the secretary of state would help Cuba to throw off the yoke of Spain he would be a greater man than Columbus."

DOWN AN ELEVATOR SHAFT.

Thrilling Experience of Seven Men in St. Joseph, Mo.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 9.—A party of prominent officials of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City railroad had a narrow escape from a serious accident yesterday. In the party were President Egan, Traffic Manager Busenbark, Attorney Lusk and Theodore Steinacker, of St. Paul, and John Doniphan, C. R. Berry and M. M. Topey, of St. Joseph. They visited the plant of the Artisian Ice company and undertook to ride from the floor to the ground on a hand elevator with no weights attached. When the catch was unfastened the weight of seven men caused it to fall with an awful velocity. Through the efforts of Messrs. Egan, Berry and Topey the speed was slightly reduced before the basement was reached. The hands of the three gentlemen were horribly bruised and burned and all were considerably shaken up.

MORE THAN THEY EXPECTED.

The Expulsion of the Jews Threatens Great Financial Distress.

LONDON, June 9.—The Odessa correspondent of the News says that the emigration of the Jews from there is increasing. A BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

The Upper Ten of Gotham Witness a Wedding Ceremony.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The "upper ten of Gotham" turned out today in force at the St. Thomas' church. In fact there was hardly breathing space in the sacred edifice. It was a wealthy assemblage too, and scores of millions of dollars, figuratively speaking, looked upon Elizabeth Thompson and Harry Legrand Cannon, as they stood before the altar and exchanged the vows which made them man and wife. Miss Thompson is the daughter of Mr. W. G. Thompson, who was twice elected mayor of Detroit. She inherited a large landed estate, valued at over $2,000,000, from her mother, who was a Miss Brush, and grand-daughter of Colonel Brush, who commanded a regiment under General Cass in the war of 1812, and who acquired a French farm which had been in possession of the family ever since, and is now situated in the very heart of Detroit. Her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth O. Brush, is a niece of General Cass, while her father is the great-great-grandson of General Alexander Thomson, one of the earliest residents of Pittsburg, and who was a conspicuous figure in the early Indian and French war. He in turn inherited his fortune from his grandmother, who was a daughter of Major General McDougal, one of Washington's commanders, the first president of the society of Cincinnati, of the State of New York and the first president of the Bank of New York. Mr. Cannon, who has been a prominent figure in society circles in New York for many years, is a son of the vice president of the Delaware and Hudson railroad, and is very wealthy in his own right. The bridesmaids were Miss Newberry, Miss McMillan, Miss Ferguson and Miss Ledyard, all of Detroit, Mich., Miss Sallie Hargous, Miss May Jeffery and Miss Farlain Rogers, all of New York. There was a wedding breakfast at the Howard-Cutting mansion, on Fifth avenue. The honeymoon will be spent at the groom's beautiful country seat, near Burlington, Vt. The presents were numbered by the hundreds and represent a large fortune.

NOT AN ACCIDENT.

So Decides a Judge in the Case of a Sun Stroke.

KANSAS CITY, June 9.—Judge Philips, of the United States circuit court, decided an interesting point in a suit on an accident policy. Willoughby Dozier, who died about a year ago from the effects of a sun stroke, was at the time carrying an accident policy. The suit brought on the policy by the beneficiary was decided by Judge Philips yesterday. He sustained the demurrer of the defendant on the ground that a sun stroke is not an accident, but a disease of the brain, arising from natural and known causes.

THE LONDON STRIKE.

The Situation Unchanged and Both Sides Firm.

LONDON, June 9.—Very few of the road cars are running today. The companies whose men are on a strike say they have received 1,400 applications for positions, but as yet have engaged none of the men, as they wish to give the former employes time to reconsider their action. The police are helping to take care of the companies' horses today, the strikers refusing to longer attend them. One hundred stablemen at Hornsey, who struck, have returned to work.

IN A STORM.

Emperor William Witnesses the Death of Some Soldiers.

BERLIN, June 9.—While Emperor William was reviewing the grenadiers at an exercise drill about 9 o'clock this morning, near the Tempelhof, a storm arose, accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning. Captain Von Quist and three soldiers were struck by lightning, and two of the soldiers were killed. The captain and the other soldier sustained very serious injuries. The lightning also struck and killed a horse.

Mexican War Veterans.

LOCKSPORT, June 9.—Five thousand people gathered at the annual picnic of the Mexican veterans at Lake Cicott yesterday. Among those present was David Yost, of the company which left this county, and who has not been seen since the close of the Mexican war. General M. D. Manson and other veterans delivered short addresses. The old settlers united in the celebration, which was a grand success.

Bankers in Convention.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., June 9.—The Iowa Banker's association convened here today with 200 members present. J. T. Rainey, of Burlington, presided. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Mayor Palmer and Judge P. Allison, of this city. The visitors will attend a banquet, tendered by citizens, this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Woehbeking very pleasantly entertained a few friends yesterday afternoon at their pleasant home at 26 Poplar street.

"UNITED WE STAND."

A Big Gathering of Trainmen and Telegraphers in this City Today—Interesting Meetings.

The freedom of the city is given to the several hundred delegates who are here today to attend the meeting of railroad men, composed of members of the Order of Locomotive Engineers, Order of Railroad Conductors, Brotherhood of Telegraphers, Brotherhood of Firemen, Switchmens' Mutual Aid association and the Railway Trainmen, who came from points within a radius of 200 miles of this city. The meeting is a called one. From it fruitful results will be obtained. It will impact to the various branches referred to a spirit of harmony that will be of such material benefit that that grand old motto, "In Unity there is Strength," will be exemplified to its fullest measure. While the attendance at today's meeting did not come up to the expectations, there was a fine representation of men with sound ideas, who had the word "business" stamped all over their features.

The meeting this morning at Princess rink was secret in its nature and conducted on firm principles. S. D. Low, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, this city, acted as chairman, and J. H. Schwerzgen, secretary of the Brotherhood of Telegraphers, this city, acted as secretary.

The proceedings of the morning cannot be made public, as newspaper men were barred from the hall, but it is given out that there was a discussion and a settlement of the discussions that existed between the Switchmen's Mutual Benefit association and the other organizations. The difficulty referred to was due to the refusal of the different organizations to sanction the action of the switchmen in the recent Chicago and Northwestern strike. This led the switchmen to declare that they would federate. It is understood that everything has been amicably arranged so that these organizations will again walk hand in hand, a move that will work to ultimate success in all their undertakings. At this meeting addresses were made by George T. Howard, of Toledo, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors; John A. Hail, of Chicago, editor of the Switchmen's Journal; W. A. Simcrott, of Chicago, grand secretary-treasurer of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association; M. D. Shaw, of St. Louis, of the Telegraphers' Brotherhood. While this meeting does not have any official power it is more than likely that its influence in the matter of the switchmen will obtain the grave consideration of the national meeting to be held at Chicago. The discussions prove this beyond a doubt.

Shortly before the public meeting was opened this afternoon the different organizations formed at the Wayne hotel and the procession moved along the line of march heretofore published. Flags fluttered gaily from the buildings and residences, and the admiring crowds were manifestly liberal in their praises of the line body of men. The procession was made up in the following order:

City band,

Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Order of Railway Conductors.

Brotherhood of Telegraphers.

Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen.

Switchmen's Mutual Aid association.

Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

The line of march was from Harrison to Calhoun on Columbia, thence to Jefferson, thence to Broadway and thence to the Princess rink.

This afternoon at Princess rink was held a large public meeting that was attended by a large number of people, many of whom were ladies.

After Rev. J. M. Bogge, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, had invoked the divine blessing and the City band had discoursed an overture, Mayor O. A. Zollinger stepped forward on the platform and in behalf of the citizens of Fort Wayne extended a greeting. After the address of welcome the Auburn quartet sang a song. An address by F. P. Sargent, of Terre Haute, grand master of the engineers, was to be a feature of the meeting, but he was unavoidably absent. Mrs. S. A. Northrop sang a beautiful solo, after which her husband, Rev. S. A. Northrop, pastor of the Baptist church, delivered an address in which he declared that the organization was enobling to the ones within its ranks. Hon. P. S. O'Rourke spoke on the relations between the railroad and employe. J. M. Robinson also made a speech. As THE SENTINEL goes to press M. D. Shaw, of St. Louis, a representative of the Telegraphers, is making a speech. He will be followed by Frank Swinney. This evening another public meeting, to which everybody is invited to attend, will be held at the rink. The following program will be carried out:

Prayer	Rev. Bolsinger
Address	Hon. L. S. Coffin
Song	Hayden Quartette
Address	George W. Howard
Address	Mrs. S. A. Northrop
Address	Rev. J. M. Bogge
Music	Auburn Quartette
Address	Hon. P. S. O'Rourke
Address	J. M. Robinson
Address	A. J. Von

These meetings must be prolific of a sentiment which will mould opinions that will uphold organized labor in its struggle for right.

The committee on reception of delegates were chosen from the different city organizations and were as follows:

General committee—R. F. Miller, chairman; Jos. Schwerzgen, secretary; T. F. Drake, A. J. Kohler, James Morris.

B. of L. E.—Wm. Lohrman, Frank Wright, Robert Johns, Thos. Ogar, C. C. Carmady.

Firemen—S. D. Lowe, George Huber, F. Hill, Charles Walch, H. Durnell.

Telegraphers—C. P. Swain, C. W. Cadwalader, T. W. H. Search, P. T. Hearn, M. C. Lovener.

Trainmen—John O. Blue, F. T. Miller, P. Sullivan, C. B. Fink, T. Sullivan.

Conductors—Ed. Erokinson, Phil. Tremmel, A. J. Dawson, A. H. Sanburn.

NOTICE.

Come again!

Merchants decorated their stores.

There will be a largely attended meeting tonight.

The Princes rink was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

The genteel appearance of the delegates was the subject of universal remark.

The procession was two lines single file and a half hour was occupied in passing a given point.

The parade was a grand sight. The home organizations turned out en masse and swelled the ranks to great proportions.

WILL NOT BE IN IT.

The People's Party Not Endorsed by the Farmers.

LA CROSSE, Wis., June 9.—The state convention of the Farmer's alliance met today, and President Butte delivered his annual address, the chief point of which was a declaration that the recent convention at Cincinnati, which determined to form a peoples' party, was not a farmer's convention, and will not be recognized as such, but that when the Farmers' Alliance convention is held February 22, to put a national ticket in the field, the alleged peoples party will not be in it.

ASBURY PARK, N. The consolidation of the two churches will embrace 253,000 communicants, 10,000 churches and 1,300 ministers.

Burton testified that he was leaning out of the window and saw Elliott with a smoking revolver in his hand within an instant after the first shot was fired. He thinks that Patsy fired the second shot, and Osborn the third.

THE DOCKETS TODAY.

United States District Court in Session in This City—News From the Other Courts.

The June term of the United States district court opened this morning in the court room at the government building with Hon. Walter A. Woods, of Indianapolis, as judge. United States Marshal Dudley, District Attorney Chambers and Clerk Noble are also in attendance. There are but few cases to be disposed of. The case against Brokaw, the Grand Rapids baggageman charged with rifling the mails, and another against James Kelley for violating the pension laws are the only two cases of importance.

The case against Groenedyke, the Columbia street saloonkeeper who made an assault on Captain Wilkinson, was called in the circuit court yesterday. Groenendyke submitted an affidavit setting forth facts that he could not get a fair and impartial trial in this county, and asked for a change of venue. Judge O'Rourke has the matter under consideration.

In the circuit court yesterday Jacob Myers, the Force street saloonkeeper, was fined $10 for contempt of court.

The county commissioners visited the county asylum yesterday and found everything in excellent shape.

The state and William Gaffney, guardian, sue David Lomay on guardian bond for $2,000. John Rodabaugh is attorney for the plaintiff.

The case of Milton Webber vs. Henrich Rosenberg to quiet title was up in the supreme court, and the judge, after listening to the evidence, instructed the jury to return a verdict against Webber.

The case of the state against Van Horn, for assault and battery, was dismissed in the circuit court this morning.

Justice Wilkinson is engaged this afternoon in trying the case of the State vs. Chas. Noirot. The defendant is charged with keeping a disorderly saloon on Columbia street. J. R. Bittinger appears for the defense.

The famous suit of J. H. Bass, of this city, vs. the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City railroad, now the "Clover Leaf," for supplies furnished before the road went into the hands of a receiver, was finally settled in the United States supreme court, at Washington, D. C., yesterday. Hon. B. O. Bell, of this city, represented J. H. Bass, and Hon. Robert G. Ingersoll, of New York city, appeared for the railroad. The suit involved originally $15,000, but with accumulated interest amounted to $25,000 when decided yesterday in favor of Mr. Bass.

There was a big crowd of spectators in the lobby at police court this morning when Marshal Franke pounded with his gavel on the desk for order. They had been attracted there by the fact that Officer Humbrecht had made a raid on a house of ill-fame at 28 Chicago street last night, and arrested two girls and a visitor. Their names were registered on the marshal's book as: May Eckert, Stella White and Henry Coy. There ought to have been one more name on the list—another Miss White, the proprietor of the establishment—but she had gone on a visit to Columbia City in search of new girls, consequently was not at the house to greet Officer Humbrecht when he called. The three other parties were arrested and taken to the station house. The fellow "put up" for his appearance in court this morning, and allowed his companions to spend the night in cells. When the cases of the three were called this morning, they were fined $5 and costs each. The two girls, being unable to pay, went to jail, while the man, having the money, bought his liberty. One of the girls, May Eckert, is quite handsome. She is the daughter of well-to-do people living at Logansport, but strayed from the paths of right. She came to this city about a week ago and took "board" on Chicago street. She was for some time an employe of the "Johnston" hotel at Logansport. The other girl is from Kendallville. She has only been living in this city about a week.

In Justice Hays' court, Michael Wintera was capiased by George Schmidt, who claimed that the defendant had received money, a part of which belonged to him, and made no division. After hearing the evidence, the 'squire rendered judgment for the plaintiff in the sum of $15.20.

Theo. Johnson, an old-time drunk, was arrested by Officer Dasele yesterday afternoon, while he was peacefully sleeping in a barn on Superior street. The people living near there made complaint and Officer Dasele "gathered" the fellow in, took him to the station house, and this morning in police court Mayor Zollinger sent him to jail for twenty days. Johnson is a total wreck. He is unable to let whisky alone, and it frequently places him behind the bars. When arrested yesterday he had a bottle in his pocket partially filled with alcohol. He would rather take the pure stuff, because it places him under the "influence" quicker.

August Frauler was arrested last evening by Officer Conley for drunkenness. The mayor sent him to jail for twelve days.

TO-NIGHT.

CITY COUNCIL—Regular session.

LODGES—Fort Wayne No. [illegible] of Red Men; Fort Wayne [illegible] A. O. U. W.

PRINCESS RINK—Public exercises by the Railroad Convention.

Fort Wayne is getting to be a great convention city.

Fort Wayne decorates in honor of her guests—the railroad men.

Fort Wayne's $200,000 railroad—the Mahoning—is beginning to show signs of life again.

The fire bugs were abroad again last night. There is no punishment too severe for these fiends.

The city council will honor itself to night by re-electing Mr. A. E. Hoffman a member of the school board.

The days of school commencements have commenced. Fort Wayne will have several of them during the next two weeks.

The police are doing a good thing in causing the arrest of the inmates of houses of ill fame in this city. Let these disreputable places be suppressed.

According to the Washington Post, Senator Sherman's new home to be erected in the capital city will be one of the most magnificent residences in Washington.

Messrs. Faber and Huffleman, of Dayton, have purchased the Richmond (Ind.) Independent of Frederick Maag and will improve and enlarge it. It will be independent in politics.

The Chesterton Tribune takes strong ground in favor of convicts working the roads, and claims that by this method in a few years the state would have the finest highways in the world.

Women are coming to the front. Thirty per cent. of all the women of America follow money earning occupations, an increase of nine per cent. over the percentage of the year 1881.

The National Farmers' alliance are making arrangements to canvass all of the states during the next four months and organize them thoroughly, with a view toward influencing legislation during the next congress.

In a little cemetery at Leesburg, Ind., modest grave stones bear the names of John Wannamaker and wife, the parents of the postmaster general. In the same cemetery is a wooden slab with the name of James S. Blaine, who is supposed to be an uncle of James G. Blaine.

Milwaukee will be the scene of an important gathering of representative men of the National Union Tuesday, June 16. At the annual meeting of the national senate held in Washington last year, it was decided to hold the session of 1891 in the Cream City, and, therefore, the senators of the order from the various states will gather there this year to deliberate on measures pertaining to the welfare of the order.

Judge Henry B. Saylor, of Huntington, has received official notice of his appointment as a member of the pan-republic congress committee. Judge Saylor was a member of the forty-third congress, and in 1881 the governor appointed him circuit judge of the Huntington judicial district, to fill the unexpired term caused by the death of the late Judge James R. Slack. At the close of the term he was nominated by the republicans and returned to the judgeship for the period of six years. Since the expiration of his term he has been engaged in the practice of law.

There is consternation in the various branches of the census office. It grows out of the fact that the money appropriated to carry out the work is running so low that it has become necessary to reduce the force. It is hinted that between now and July 1 the force is to be reduced at least 1,000, which takes in quite a number of the original appointees and nearly all of those who were recently given a three months' appointment. The work is nowhere near completion, and it is only thought possible by working the force night and day that by December 1 it would all be up in shape. This state of affairs will delay the work of the office considerably, and will necessitate an extra appropriation to complete it.

It is reported that Secretary Noble will resign his position in the cabinet to resume his law practice at St. Louis. President Harrison seems to have no end of trouble with his cabinet.

The city council of Anderson, Ind., held a secret session and decided to raise the salaries of all the city officials with the exception of mayor and councilmen. The new salaries will date back to May 1.

The Louisiana Lottery company offers to loan money to the farmers of that state at 1 per cent., principal and interest payable in twenty years. This is a scheme to catch votes in order that the lottery may have a new lease of life.

The Sentinel extends the hand of welcome and a warm greeting to the delegates of the various railroad organizations who are assembled in our city for the purpose of holding their national convention. They have left the busy ranks of life to deliberate upon questions of common interest. They are leading representatives of the railroad organizations of the country—the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Firemen, the Switchmen's union, the Order of Railway Conductors, the Brotherhood of Trainmen and the Order of Telegraphers—men upon whom depends much of the prosperity of our country and who give impetus to wheels of commerce. Our citizens will give them a fraternal greeting and will hope that their meeting will be of much good to the great orders they represent.

The Detroit national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will bring together the largest and by far the most important assembly of veterans ever congregated in this country since the order had an existence. It will be the quarto centennial meeting, and will be the climax gathering of the order. In the nature of things it can hardly be expected that the veterans who, twenty-five years ago, laid down their swords and betook themselves to peaceable pursuits, carrying with them wounds and scars received on many battle fields and the germs of disease, will in the future have such large national gatherings as they have in the past. The old soldiers are nearly all past middle life and age is beginning to tell on most of them, unfitting them for long journeys; death is naturally thinning the ranks, and at every national camp fire the vacant places become constantly more numerous. Hence the Detroit meeting is coming to be considered as the greatest event in the history of the order.

BOOMING GRAY.

A Leading Eastern Journal Declares for an Indiana Man.

(Rochester Union and Advertiser.)

Ex Senator Reagan, of Texas, is reported as having said in Washington the other day that in the next democratic national convention the Texas delegation will demand the selection of a western man for president, and incidentally, Mr. Reagan dropped the remark that the choice of the delegation might fall upon ex-Governor Gray, of Indiana.

The interview suggests two reflections—(1) the manifest disposition of southern and western democrats to look elsewhere than to the east for a presidential candidate, and (2) the comparative availability of various westerners whose names have been suggested in connection with the nomination.

That there is a deep-seated prejudice against what is called in the south and west the "Wall street influence" in politics must be admitted even by New Yorkers, and faced. That prejudice is less effective than it would be were the electoral vote of New York not necessary to democratic success. But it exists, nevertheless, and will some day be effective in nominating conventions. If New York is to retain the influence which her commanding position and importance entitled her to in national politics, she must demonstrate unmistakably to the rest of the country that the narrow financial expression of Wall street is not by any means fairly reflective of the sentiment of her best thinkers, or that the individual view of some of her public men all justify the conclusion that all her statesmen are under what Senator Reagan calls the "domination" of the money power.

But if this false impression, which has unfortunately and unjustly been given to the country, should be strong enough to influence the party's choice of a presidential candidate at next year's convention, and it is deemed best that the high honor should go to a western man, the logic of the situation will point to ex-Governor Gray, of Indiana, as the strongest available candidate. Mr. Gray has demonstrated his ability to carry his own doubtful state. He is the recognized leader of his party in the state. He has creditably filled the highest office in the state. He is in touch with the people, a thorough democrat, an able statesman and a first-class politician. His nomination will insure the electoral vote of Indiana to the democracy, enlist the solid support of the party in the west and south, and bring more votes to the ticket in New York than would the nomination of any other western democrat.

If we can't have an eastern democrat at the head of the ticket, then let us have Isaac P. Gray of Indiana.

After all, the best way to know the real merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, is to try it yourself. Be sure to get Hood's.

A BOOM FOR THE CROPS.

Last Week's Rains Were Widely Extended and Beneficial.

The government's weekly weather crop bulletin says: The past week has been warm in all districts east of the Mississippi river, except in the lake region and New England, the mean daily excess of temperature being six degrees in the northern portions of Alabama and Mississippi, and in West Tennessee. The temperature has been normal on the gulf, the middle and the South Atlantic coasts, and in Oregon. The greatest deficiency in temperature has been in Upper Michigan and North Dakota, where the mean daily temperature has been ten degrees below the normal. To the west of the Rocky Mountains deficiencies of eight degrees and two degrees have occurred. There has been a continued deficiency of rainfall in the gulf states during the week, amounting to one inch or more at all stations. Abundant rains have fallen in all other districts east of the Rocky Mountains, though there has been a slight deficiency in the middle Mississippi Valley, in New England and on the Atlantic coast. In the upper lake region heavy rains have materially improved the crops, though a little more would be beneficial in the interior of Wisconsin. Slight damage by hail is reported in the southern counties of Wisconsin and by cut worms in Michigan. In Indiana, Illinois and Ohio the conditions were favorable for all crops except oats in Indiana and corn in Ohio. Hail injured fruit and vegetation in some localities in North Ohio. Injury by insects is reported in a few counties.

DIDN'T LIVE HERE.

His Home Must Have Been at Wabash.

(Huntington Herald.)

There was a flutter of excitement up at Briant's factory this morning and Marshal Rosebrough was sent for. A stranger who claimed to hail from Fort Wayne was reported to be carrying on like a mad man and people around the factory couldn't tell whether he had the hydrophobia or ordinary fits. All they were certain of was that he had something or other in considerable quantities. The marshal decided it was a complication of whisky and fits. After the fellow got better he washed up and started down the road for Wabash.

M. D'Ennaysky, the Russian gentleman who bet 25,000 roubles that he would drive his troika from Samara to Paris in eighty days, reached Paris on March 17, twenty-two days ahead of time. He used three little Ural horses, the maximum distance covered for any day being about 120 miles.

Seven beautiful young girls were landed at the barge office, New York, the other day, from the steamship Majestic. They were accompanied by their father and mother, and all came from Fifeshire, Scotland, and their name is Harrison. The most remarkable resemblance between the sisters exists. The oldest is nineteen years old and the youngest six years, and the hair of all is of a beautiful golden-red tint. Their skin is like rich velvet, with a complexion suggestive of peaches and cream. The interesting family were admired by all who saw them, and they were voted the handsomest girls that ever came over in the steerage. They were very well dressed and were bound for Urbana, Ohio, where their father, who is a stonecutter, will secure work.

A Californian tells this story of boom time in San Diego: The general delivery window of the postoffice was always crowded. One week the mails were delayed for several days, and when they were at last distributed the line of inquirers at the general delivery window of the postoffice extended for six blocks. A man who fell in line in the early morning got to the window and received his mail about eight o'clock in the evening. One old lady, who had plenty of time on her hands, took with her a camp-stool and her lunch basket and camped right there on the line. She received no letter, and turned away apparently happy, although she had waited in the line for seven hours. When this mail accumulated the postmaster made no attempt to distribute the newspapers. They were simply piled up in one corner, and finally a wagonload of newspaper mail was carted away from the postoffice. To be distributed? [illegible] San Diego Bay.

Maj. Edward Henderson died in a private sanitarium at Indianapolis, and his remains were buried at Anderson, his old home. During 1876 he served in the state legislature; afterward he removed to Kingman, Kas., where he engaged in banking. Several months ago his bank failed and this dethroned his reason.

The corner stone of a new Catholic church was laid at Columbus Sunday in the presence of several thousand people. Father A. Scheideler, of Indianapolis, conducted the ceremonies, and the sermon was preached by Father George Steigerwald, of Greensburg. The building will cost $30,000.

Wesley Keith, arrested at Evansville and returned to Marshall, Minn., charged with abducting a girl ten years old for criminal purposes, has been found guilty and sentenced, the punishment calling for twenty-five years' imprisonment. The child was the daughter of James Greenslit, a deceased soldier. Keith was arrested and placed under a $10,000 bond, after which he spirited the mother and child away, keeping them at Dakota, Iowa, Terre Haute, Vincennes, and finally at Evansville. He was trailed by the G. A. R., and the pursuit was continued until he was brought to book. Keith formerly owned extensive farms in Lyons county, Minnesota, but was forced to leave that country by reason of crime.

The young fops who congregate at the rear doors of theaters, to view the ballet girls as they emerge after the performance, may heed the warning lately administered by the proprietor of the Central Theater, Philadelphia. He had repeatedly requested the well-dressed sidewalk statues to pass on. They heeded him not until the other day, when without a hint of what was coming, he turned the hose on them. One of the fops has sued the manager for $150, the cost of a ruined suit of clothes.

A New York merchant noticed, in the course of years, that each successive bookkeeper gradually lost his health, and finally died of consumption, however vigorous and robust he was on entering his service. At length it occurred to him that the little rear room where the books were kept opened into a back yard so surrounded by high walls that no sunshine came into it from one year's end to another. An upper room, well lighted, was immediately prepared and his clerks had uniform good health ever after.

RAILROADS AND SHOPS.

Organization of the Bass Mechanical Club—Dr. Ford's Accident—Personal and Otherwise.

Several weeks ago Master Mechanic A. E. Manchester, of the Bass foundry and machine works, conceived the idea of organizing a club which should have for its object the study of a complete steam plant in all its phases. With characteristic energy, he at once requested the mechanics in his department to meet him one evening and the result of the meeting was the formation of "The Bass Mechanical club." Last evening the organization was completed and the following officers were elected: President, William H. Meyers, foreman of the machine shop; secretary, Henry Rohling; committee on rules and regulations, Gus Fromuth, Louis Seibt and Henry Zauner. The subject for discussion at last evening's meeting was "The Setting of Boilers and the Construction of the Same." The leaders were Henry Zauner and Gus. Fromuth, and their remarks were illustrated by drawings and charts, a board having been erected for that purpose. The subject for discussion at the meeting next monday evening is, "The Different Styles of Boilers." It is proposed to keep these meetings up permanently, and by the thorough and persistent study of the parts which go to make up a complete steam plant it is hoped a higher standard of efficiency will be attained in the ranks of the mechanics at the Bass shops, than whom no more intelligent set of men can be found anywhere. Mr. Manchester deserves great credit for the interest he displays in the advancement of the efficient force at the Bass shops.

WONDROUS GROWTH OF THE Y. M. C. A.

The railroad department of association work has had a marvelous growth. The Union Pacific has organized associations at its own expense at thirteen points on the system within the last three years, at an annual expense of $15,000, which is charged on the books of the company as a part of the operating expenses of the road. In addition they have equipped four buildings at an expense of $9,600 which is considered a legitimate part of the construction expenses. At Elkhart the Lake Shore keeps a continuous subscription of $600 per year, besides special help in many other directions. Three years ago there were sixty railroad departments in existence while today there are ninety-nine.

THE RAILWAY TELEGRAPHERS.

The Order of Railway Telegraphers will hold their sixth annual convention at Odd Fellows' hall, in St. Louis, Monday, June 15. The local division of St. Louis are using every means to make this meeting a social and numerical success and they propose to look after the comfort and pleasure of the delegates in attendance. It is expected that 250 delegates, representing 12,000 telegraph operators, will be in attendance, and the visitors will be shown over the city in carriages and treated to a steamboat ride.

A HEAVY VERDICT.

Owen Sweeney, of New York, formerly a brakeman on the New Haven railroad, sued the company some time ago for injuries received in an accident last October and got a verdict of $10,000. The company considered the amount excessive and moved for a new trial. The second trial ended in the superior court yesterday with a verdict for the plaintiff of $27,500, one of the heaviest verdicts ever given by a jury in a personal damage suit in New York. One of the jurors was a negro, who is the first of his race to serve on a jury in that city.

DR. FORD CRIPPLED.

Wabash train No. 49 ran over Dr. J. H. Ford at Wabash last night, crippling him for life. As the train approached the depot Dr. Ford attempted to cross the track, but his foot caught under the rail in some way and held him to the track in such a manner as to allow the engine to pass over and cut off his right leg between the knee and ankle. The unfortunate man is one of Wabash's most prominent physicians. He is the chief surgeon of the Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan and the division surgeon of the Wabash road. Dr. Ford has many friends in this city, who will read with sorrow the misfortune which has overtaken him.

Important Trade Name Decision.

Judge Thayer, of the United States Circuit Court at St. Louis, has recently handed down an opinion, and granted a perpetual injunction against the defendants in the case of the Hostetter Company against the Bruggeman-Reinert Distilling Co., at Cold Spring Distilling Co., prohibiting the advertising, manufacturing or selling of any article of stomach bitters, either in bulk by the gallon or otherwise, or in any way making use of the name "Hostetter's" except in connection with the sale of genuine bitters, which are always sold in bottles, securely sealed; and also prohibiting the sale of any bitters in bulk though the name of "Hostetters" be not used, but the suggestion made to the purchaser that he can put them in the empty Hostetter bottles, and purchasers would not discover the difference. His decision supports the Hostetter Company in the exclusive use of the name "Hostetter" in connection with either the manufacture or sale of stomach bitters in any manner or form whatsoever, and firmly establishes its ownership in the name "Hostetter" as a "Trade Name."

Ely's Cream Balm is especially adapted as a remedy for catarrh which is aggravated by alkaline dust and dry winds.—W. A. Hover, Druggist, Denver.

My Catarrh was very bad. For thirty years I have been troubled with it—have tried a number of remedies without relief. A druggist advised Ely's Cream Balm. I have used only one bottle and I can say I feel like a new man. I make this voluntary statement that others may know of the Balm.—J. W. Mathewson, (Lawyer,) Pawtucket, R. I.

HEAT and dynamite do not harmonize. A laborer at Tidnish, N. Y., placed seventy-five pounds of dynamite before a stove in a shanty, to make it "thaw out." As this process would take some time he went to his home, a mile away, for a rest and a smoke. On arriving there he heard a distant explosion. It is supposed to have been caused by the dynamite, which must have thawed, and gone at once to work, as the stove and the shanty have not since been seen.

VERY few people know what wonderful feats of engineering have been accomplished in the Andes. It appears that the highest inhabited place in the world is Galeria a railway village in Peru, 15,635 feet above the sea, or within 100 feet of the summit of Mont Blanc. Near it a tunnel, 3,847 feet long, is being bored through the peak of the mountain, 693 feet above the perpetual snow line. The railways of the Andes exhibit some of the most marvelous results of engineering skill which the world contains.

A SITE CHOSEN.

The Encampment to be Held on the Tabor Land.

While it was expected that the choice of location for the state military encampment would fall to this city yet there was no reliable assurance to that effect until to-day. Word has been received from Adjutant General Buckle that the military encampment will be held in Fort Wayne, and that the Tabor land has been chosen as the site for holding the same on condition that wells be driven to supply the camps with water. The access to these grounds must necessarily be had from the heart of the city, thus creating a benefit to the merchants. At Evansville a few years ago the attendance at the military encampment numbered 25,000 people, but that was before the state made the appropriation for the encampment, the citizens at that time giving subscriptions, and making it a sort of a holiday. Then an admission to the camp was charged, but now all is free and the state shoulders the expense of everything except the grounds and water.

FROST PLAYED MISCHIEF.

The Berry Crop Badly Nipped and Prices Will Go Up.

Thomas Ryan, the commission merchant, has arrived home from Rockett and Claypool, two towns along the Nickel Plate which ship hundreds of bushels of berries to this city every season.

"The berry crop," said he, "has been damaged by the frost, the strawberries having been nipped badly. The raspberries will show up a fair crop but the blackberries are seven eighths gone."

A great many of the berries in the Fort Wayne market came from these towns, a fact that will no doubt create higher prices, as berries cannot be secured in quantities to suit or under satisfactory arrangements from the places where the fruit is to be had, the transit being one of the objectionable features.

VISITORS COMING.

The Reputation of the Slattery Light Attracts Prominent People.

Next Thursday O. E. Wright, superintendent of the Central Insane hospital at Indianapolis, accompanied by the board of trustees of the institution, will be the guests of Superintendent John G. Blake of the institute for feeble minded. They will come to inspect the Slattery incandescent system of electric lighting as used by the institution here, and it is more than likely that they will be so favorably impressed that the asylum at the capital will soon become brilliant under the same system. The fame of the Slattery light is spreading. Superintendent Blake is in receipt of letters, (and he has answered them favorably), inquiring as to the efficiency of the light in the institution here, one of the letters coming from Superintendent Kirkwood, of the Baltimore reform school, and another from the superintendent of a state institution at Ogdensburg, N. Y. Fort Wayne is advertised all over this country for her peerless electric light, a fact that every warm-hearted citizen will feel gratified in knowing.

BASE BALL OBITUARY.

The Detroit Club Died Hard—The Players Signing Elsewhere.

The Detroit Free Press of today says: "The most sensible move that the Detroit base ball club of 1891 made in its short career, was that of yesterday when it decided to disband the team and quit the business. Had those who put money into the team listened carefully they would have seen that their attempt to give Detroit base ball would be unprofitable, for there is just about as much demand here for a professional base ball team this year as there is for the yellow fever.

The club was to have played Fort Wayne, but the manager of the visitors was told there would be no game so he left town after receiving one day's guarantee.

The Hamtramck deputy sheriff waited all day yesterday for the players to put in an appearance at the park. He said they were to come around in the morning and all go before Justice Griff. They did not come, and at noon he said he would get even if they played by assenting some of them on the spot.

The police got fooled again. The way they were hoodwinked Sunday made some of the heads hot and in the afternoon two wagon loads of officers were sent to the park to arrest all the men for playing on Sunday. No players showed up, so the mission was fruitless.

All the members of the Detroit team are paid up to June 1, but they have eight days' pay coming, and none of them expect to get this. They say they will be satisfied if the club will pay their hotel bills.

Several of the players have offers, but all of them were in the city last night.

The following dispatch was received from Grand Rapids last night:

The Bay Citys received notice this afternoon of the dissolution of their club, and Catcher Whalen and First-Baseman Potkay at once signed with Grand Rapids, Whalen to play third, vice Brennan released, and Potkay at short, vice Rousseey. The new schedule for a six-club league is about ready to adopt, and it begins games on Thursday.

LOOK OUT!

"Imitation is flattery," but we are not flattered by the imitation of our flour going on in Fort Wayne. Those parties trading upon the reputation of our flour imitate brand and sack. They doubtless never heard of that great ship which brought to our shore the "choicest of the wheat." Please insist on having the words "Mayflower Mills" on every sack of flower you purchase.
